Gosh, I feel like a proud grandpa. But I didn't realize I would feel just as ignorant and confused as that day, long ago, when I held my firstborn for the first time, trying to make out which end was up, and wholly unprepared and surprised by the small geyser that suddenly erupted. "Does this thing come with instructions!?", I wondered both then and now.

But no, you are just suppose to figure things out as you go along. I'm not sure it's the *best* system the Universe could have evolved, but I guess it works, more or less. :-)

Cheers,

David
