
Subject: Re: AGU IDL Users Group meeting
Posted by MarioIncandenza on Sun, 03 Jan 2010 00:24:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Dec 28 2009, 2:40 pm, mgalloy <mgal...@gmail.com> wrote:
> I finally wrote up a quick summary of the IDL Users Group meeting at
> AGU, which described IDL 8.0:
>
> <http://michaelgalloy.com/2009/12/28/agu-idl-users-group-meeting.html>

Mike,

Thanks for writing this up. I was hoping to attend that meeting. I am pretty excited to hear about what they're doing with IDL 8.0. As a scientific user, I feel like I was abandoned by ESRI when they decided to walk away from both Linux and their old AMS scripting language. I am pleased to see indications that people who write scientific analysis code still appear to be IDL's bread and butter.

Happy New Year,

--Edward H.
