
Subject: Re: Works on Linux, not on MacOS
Posted by penteado on Fri, 05 Mar 2010 00:03:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Mar 4, 8:02 pm, wallabadah <write.to.wpow...@gmail.com> wrote:
> If the Mac is a MacBook (not a PowerBook), then it has an intel > processor, so byte ordering should not be an issue.

That does not mean he is not running the PPC IDL. The documentation is not clear whether things like the `swap_if_little_endian` keywords cause a decision based on the host platform, or the IDL binary in use.
