Subject: Re: Works on Linux, not on MacOS
Posted by wlandsman on Thu, 04 Mar 2010 18:21:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Mar 4, 1:03 pm, Gray <grayliketheco...@gmail.com> wrote:

> Great suggestion! I checked, and the two img arrays are different.
> It turns out that the version of readfits I was using on the Mac was > newer than the Linux version. I copied the older version onto the > Mac, and ran my checks again. Same results w/ find & readfits. Why > is readfits not working??

How are the img arrays different?   Are they different sizes?   Are they different types (integer vs. floating point)?   Does one image have NaN values and the other doesn't?   Do both images display properly?   Are the pixels values at the same location slightly different? or very different?

Are you sure you have the same file on both computers?   --Wayne