On Mar 18, 6:11 pm, David Fanning <n...@dfanning.com> wrote:
> Esquerdo writes:
>> I know that pp, David is the best reference here. I like his website >> and I always visit it. But I don't think he needs to be so ironic >> sometimes. That's not the fist time with me. My apologies for all >> group members for this no sense discussion.
>
> My apologies, too. I'll try harder to be less ironic and > more helpful. My wife reminds me often that an ironic > and overly cynical sense of humor is not everyone's cup > of tea. I'd to well to take that to heart, especially > in a forum like this.

Well David, please don't give it up altogether, for some of us the jokes are part of what makes this newsgroup so fun to read! And how can one make a good joke without being a tiny bit nasty? :)

Ciao,
Paolo

>
> Cheers,
>
> David
>
> --
> David Fanning, Ph.D.
> Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
> Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming:http://www.dfanning.com/
> Sepore ma de ni thue. ("Perhaps thos speakest truth.")