

---

Subject: Re: A simple vector - array operation

Posted by David Fanning on Wed, 12 May 2010 15:29:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

francois writes:

> Let say that I have an array A of 25 columns by 100 lines and a vector
> V of 25 elements.
> I want that each line of A takes the value of V such that:
> for i=0, 99 do begin >   A[i,*] = V
> endfor
>
> What would be a fast way of doing this without using the FOR loop ?

a = Rebin(v, 25, 100)

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>

Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")

---