
Subject: Re: FOR loop ends one above where it's supposed to Posted by penteado on Wed, 02 Jun 2010 16:07:44 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Jun 2, 12:57 pm, Paolo <pgri...@gmail.com> wrote:

> While people here gave a logical explanation as to what is happening,
> I would say that the safest practice in your programming is to not > use the for loop index variable ("i" in this case) for anything else > in your program. That will make the code much easier to write, read > and understand.

Which is why I miss block scope in IDL, so that the variable would not even exist outside the loop.
