
Subject: Re: Relational Operators on Windows
Posted by pentead0 on Sat, 26 Jun 2010 06:18:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Jun 25, 10:45 pm, David Fanning <n...@dfanning.com> wrote:

```
> Yes. :-(
>
> IDL> a = [3.2, !VALUES.F_NAN, 2]
> IDL> a = a [ where(a lt 3) ]
> % Program caused arithmetic error: Floating illegal operand
> IDL> print, a
> 2.00000
```

That is just a floating point exception. It does not keep the where() from working, does not interrupt the program, and can be suppressed changing !except.
