Subject: Re: .hdr file
Posted by jeanh on Tue, 13 Jul 2010 15:51:20 GMT

On 13/07/2010 11:13 AM, Snow53 wrote:
> Hope this is the last question I'll need to ask for a while....
>
> I was told that I could modify my envi .hdr file name so that it could > be read by all my .dat files (since the naming convention is the same > until the last eight places). This hasn't worked yet for me, but was > wondering if anyone else uses this approach.
>
> Thanks!

hi,
yes, it does work. I believe you have to copy/rename your header file so that it matches each .dat image. (write a small program)

simply add, to the header file, .hdr to your image file name

ex:
myimage.dat
--> myimage.dat.hdr
or --> myimage.hdr

Jean