We are looking for a Software contractor to work on a project for about 2 months converting and enhancing some existing PV-Wave programs.

At present the software requires extensive modification to the source code to adapt it for each run and we would like to replace this with a GUI interface giving access to all the more common variations and also enhance its functionality in several areas.

We are using PV-Wave CL version 6.03 on a SPARCstation. The work must be carried out at our Farnborough, Hants site. The contractor must be a UK national and preferably have a current security clearance. We anticipate the work being completed during the first quarter of 1997.

If you are (or know of) a company or individual who would be interested then please email me some details.
