Subject: Re: tvim procedure
Posted by Thibault Garel on Tue, 20 Jul 2010 12:18:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

OK, thank you!
And do you know how to make the x/y labels thicker ?
cheers

> On Jul 20, 3:14 am, bing999 <thibaultga...@gmail.com> wrote:
>
>
>
>> Hi,
>
>> i am using the tvim procedure and i have trouble with the colors.
>
>> I plot a 2D histogram so each pixel is a number density.
>
>> I do
>> tvim,map,xrange=xaxis,yrange=yaxis,rgb_nodata=[255,255,255], nodata=0.0
>
>> where map is a 2D array containing the number density for each (x,y) >> couple. I do not understand the color coding. Is there a way to know >> the correspondance between the number density of my pixel and the >> color? For instance, plotting a colorbar in agreement with my color >> coding?
>
>> Thank you
>
> Look at thishttp://groups.google.com/group/comp.lang.idl-pvwave/brow se_thread/thr...
> Cheers
> Dave