Subject: Re: eliminating "banner"
Posted by Bruce Bowler on Fri, 23 Jul 2010 12:32:34 GMT

On Thu, 22 Jul 2010 16:38:13 -0400, Ben Tupper set fingers to keyboard and typed:

> On 7/22/10 3:20 PM, Bruce Bowler wrote:
>> I'm pretty sure I've seen this discussed before, bat a) don't remember >> the answer and b) can't seem to come up with the appropriate magic >> incantation for google to have it refresh my memory...
>>
>> Is it possible to start IDL without seeing this "garbage" (that's not >> really the word I want to use :-) on the screen/in the output
>>
>>> IDL Version 7.0 (linux x86 m32). (c) 2007, ITT Visual Information
>>> Solutions
>>> Installation number: xxxxx.
>>> Licensed for personal use by xxxx xxxx only. All other use is strictly >>> prohibited.
>>
>> other than by redirecting sysout and syserr?
>
> Hi Bruce,
>
> Does
>
> idl -quiet
>
> do it for you?
>
> Cheers,
> Ben

Grazie (not how I would have spelled it but that's the wictionary does)

--
 +------------------+--------------------------------------- -----------+
Bruce Bowler | I do not take drugs - I AM drugs.
1.207.633.9610 |
bbowler@bigelow.org | - Salvador Dali
 +------------------+--------------------------------------- -----------+