Subject: Re: 8.0 Developer Documentation
Posted by Erik Rasmussen on Mon, 02 Aug 2010 21:51:35 GMT

>
> The 7.1 help system should work on its own, sans workbench. It should > be in .../itt/IDL71/idlde/. Sorry if I'm misunderstanding your question.

Ahhh thanks... I had poked around some but didn't notice the 7.1 help app was under idlde/. This will help me a lot... I think I got the gist of many of the 8.0 syntax changes through other sources, but I always need to check the reference material for one thing or another.

Regarding priorities... for me it's the iTools reference material. I am working on an iTool for digging into cloud model output, and I think that project will be ongoing for another year anyway. But since nothing has changed in the iTools framework for 8.0, the 7.1 help.app is going to solve my immediate problem.

But I will echo the other posters.... everything (EVERYTHING) ought to be accessible from the 8.0 help app.... I'm guessing it is just a matter of time?

Thanks for your responses....

Erik