

---

Subject: Re: NG font size for axis titles

Posted by Matt Haffner on Fri, 08 Oct 2010 19:20:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

After much hunting through the NG and iTools code, I convinced myself that (for now) there is no way to do it via the axis object. It appears there is only a single font property that an axis carries around, unfortunately.

mh

On Oct 8, 9:58 am, David Grier <david.gr...@nyu.edu> wrote:

> I'm looking for the "right" way to set the font size on the > axis titles in NG graphics. The font_size keyword sets the axis > labels to the same size as the axis titles. I'd like to make the titles > a little larger. One kludgy approach is to leave the titles off and > paint them in after the fact with the text function. There ought to > be a better way.

>

> Thanks,

>

> David

---