This is a bit of an aside, but I'll throw it out here for whomever it may help...

If you press ctrl+shift+r then the workbench will open up the "Open Resource" dialog. You can then type in the partial name of a .pro file and all matches should show up in a list. Wildcards are accepted. The location of the file is shown at the bottom. This makes it pretty handy to quickly open a file when you don't quite remember its name or location. Note that it searches open projects, not !path.

Hope this makes someone happy. :)

Cheers,
Doug
