
Subject: Re: Z-Graphics Buffer Resolution

Posted by David Fanning on Wed, 27 Oct 2010 20:37:43 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

David Fanning writes:

- > I am looking for someone with a better memory than mine.
- > I've run into that old problem where the character size
- > is different in the Z-graphics buffer than it is on the
- > display, so that things just don't QUITE line up when
- > you want them to. I would have thought I would have
- > written an article about this, but apparently not.
- > Maybe I'm mis-remembering what actually causes the problem.
- > In any case, it seems the plot margins are not completely
- > aligned.

Never mind. I found the information I was looking for in my book, of all places. :-)

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>

Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")
