
Subject: Re: IDL 8.0.1 now available

Posted by bokubo on Fri, 29 Oct 2010 16:30:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Oct 28, 6:08 pm, David Fanning <n...@dfanning.com> wrote:

> David Fanning writes:

>> Alright, I'm now sitting on the page where I can download >> the IDL LINUX Product Update and all I see is the patch.

>> I don't see ANY Release Notes at all!!

>

>> This is confounding. I'm using Firefox as a browser.

>> Any ideas? Totally confused here. :-(

>

> Alright, fk it! Can someone just please e-mail the damn > release notes to me.

>

> Thanks,

>

> David

>

> P.S. You see what happens when you report nearly 100 bugs > on a product. You get directed to special VIP web > pages. :-(

>

> --

> David Fanning, Ph.D.

> Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

> Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming:<http://www.dfanning.com/>

> Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")

David,

The download site has ugly glitches that need to be worked on.

However, the release notes are there and the trick is you have to follow my 3 step directions EXACTLY. If you do, you see the links described by Paulo. The problem you are seeing happens when you select the Download Type > Product Update pull down menu - it only shows the download link. Instead, be sure to only select the Product > IDL menu.

Leave the other pull down menus with their default setting. Worst case, logout then login and try the 3 steps again.

I apologize to everyone who is frustrated with the quirks on the ITTVIS download sit. I personally am involved in efforts to start improving the download experience. I won't promise perfection and it will take some time to see improvements, but we will make it better.

Thanks for your patience.

Bill
