
Subject: Re: IDL process stalls

Posted by jeanh on Sat, 27 Nov 2010 20:30:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On 27/11/2010 11:29 AM, trisb wrote:

> Hi everyone,

>

> I have a problem with a very resource-intense IDL program. It uses > several Gigs of RAM (sometimes including swap memory) and runs at > around 100% CPU for a long time (ie. days). In most cases the program > runs just fine without problems, however sometimes it stalls. There > has been no exception or error thrown, it just 'hangs' in the middle > of the main loop of the program. The only thing that happens is that > the program seems still running but nothing happens anymore.
> Incidentally the CPU and memory load goes down which indicates that it > somehow "lost contact". But, as mentioned, IDL itself doesn't stop or > note that anything went wrong. I wonder if it is related to other > memory-loaded tasks running on the same machine on a different CPU.

>

> My questions: Did anyone have the same problem already? Any idea how > to trace the problem? I should mention that the code runs on IDL 7.0
> on ubuntu, 8GB RAM, intel Quadcore.

>

> Thanks for your suggestions.

>

> T.

last time I had this kind of problem, the hard disk was full... memory swap became a problem (not too sure why) and eventually nothing would respond anymore

Jean
