Folks,

David Brooks has a column in the New York Times this morning that caused me, for whatever reason, to think he was writing about Usenet newsgroups:

http://www.nytimes.com/2011/01/14/opinion/14brooks.html?_r=1 &hp

In any case, it reminded me again about why this is such a special place to me, and about how much I appreciate not only the people who answer questions here, but the people who ask them. This is a wonderful community and I just feel compelled to say again how much it means to me.

Cheers,

David
