Mike, or whomever,

What is the best way to document a program with IDLDOC when you really want to document the last module in the file. I'm thinking of FSC_Window, but I should think any widget program would have the same problem.

I really like to have the program documentation at the top of the file, but if I understand IDLDOC correctly, the program documentation has to be immediately in front of the procedure or function definition statement that the documentation applies to. Is there any easy way around this restriction? Or, am I misunderstanding the restriction?

Thanks,

David
