Subject: Re: Reading and saving a file
Posted by pgrigis on Wed, 26 Jan 2011 20:42:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Jan 26, 1:19 pm, Giovanna <giovanna01.san...@gmail.com> wrote:
> On 26 jan, 13:37, Giovanna <giovanna01.san...@gmail.com> wrote:
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>> On 26 jan, 13:22, Paulo Penteado <pp.pente...@gmail.com> wrote:
>
>>> On Jan 26, 12:48 pm, Giovanna <giovanna01.san...@gmail.com> wrote:
>
>>>> So, i'm reading a file, i need to extract data and save into another >>>> file, but is coming with strange characters.
>>>> In what format I save so they do not come up with these strange >>>> characters and that JAVA can also read??
>
>>> Where do you see the problem? In IDL, from what was read? In the file >>> written by IDL? Which characters are creating the problem?
>
>>> Generally speaking, any text files made in IDL should be easy to read >>> in Java, since IDL only natively does ASCII strings, and Java natively >>> uses Unicode.
>
>> I'm reading this file for example:http://pastebin.com/ctHZC8wvand >> when i save characters appear. See:http://pastebin.com/HsQse0uy
>
>> My code:http://pastebin.com/eiAVywr1
>
>> Thanks
>
> Hi all,
>
> I'm reading a file, i need to extract data and save into another > file, but is coming with strange characters.
> I'm reading this file for example:http://pastebin.com/ZLgMjrH3and > when i save characters appear. See:http://pastebin.com/NbwKhqAw
>
> My code:http://pastebin.com/kShggiSa
>
> I need to save in a format that is then recognized by JAVA.

>
> Understood?

The solution is not to use the "save" function.
Use "printf" to write the contents to the new file.

Ciao,
Paolo