I'm thinking about that book, too! I may do a thin book on map projections, first. But this one is not far down my list.

I'll probably have to switch my whole set-up over to my Linux machine, though. I can't find any of my graphics windows in IDL 8. Help! They disappear somewhere behind all this clutter on my display and it takes two hands to shake my keyboard enough for them to somehow show up again.

Every time I read about someone doing something in IDL 8 I just shake my head. I don't know how they stand so much abuse. It must be better on something other than Windows 7. Here it is like doing graphics programming in nothing but pixmaps. :-)

Cheers,

David
