kisCA writes:

> Glad to find that you finish this book.
> I am going to order one but could you explain me the differences > between all the options in the pdf order in the menu at the end of the > page (book alone, etc.) ?

People here were complaining about me choosing to give their money to charitable causes rather than using it to purchase beer or other debauchery.

So, I came up with a scheme to allow people who wanted to make a "contribution" to the work to do so by purchasing "consulting" time. You can either purchase a certain amount of consulting and "donate" it to the cause, or you can use it for "real" consulting. That is, you are free to ask a question of me, etc. The choice is yours.

I am, quite honestly, astonished at how many people are making a contribution. It warms my heart considerably. :-)

But, it is not necessary and you are free to purchase whatever is for sale on the store and not think twice about the starving person who is producing it for you. ;-)

The "options" just give you an easy way to add some of these "extra" considerations.

Cheers,

David

--
David Fanning, Ph.D.
Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.idlcoyote.com/
Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")