You should be able to do it with one histogram - if you have a day "jd" and a time in hours "hour", create a new index that is hours since midnight on the first day:

day0 = min(jd)
index = hour + (jd-day0)*24

and then histogram index. You can then reform the result into a number-of-days x 24 array.

-Jeremy.