Originally posted by: Demitri

Thanks for the quick reply! That suggestion was made earlier in this thead (from last August), but it doesn't seem to work. (I just tried it now too.)

s = create_struct('a', 1, 'b', 'xxx')
help, s
help, s, structure=0

Cheers,
Demitri

On 2011-04-05 20:31:40 -0400, Paulo Penteado <pp.penteado@gmail.com> said:

> On Apr 5, 9:14ï¿½pm, Demitri wrote:
>> I've just been bitten by this new "feature". I have a script that calls
>> 'help', but now with 8.0 it dumps the full structure to the screen.
>> This output is longer than the screen so the effective result is that >> my script stops until I manually hit a spacebar to continue. Truly >> annoying when I had to do this about 200 times today.
>>
>> Can I turn this off? Barring this, is there a way I can code this so >> that it will work as before if I run IDL 7 or 8?
>
> help,whatever,structure=0
>
> ?