On a related topic, can anyone else using Win95 manage to print a file from the editor? That is, when using the built in editor there is an option File->Print which used to (under WFWG 3.11) give a nice copy of the current procedure. Currently, however, it gives an error message (not an informative one), and the File->Printer Setup doesn't even do anything at all.

This is actually one of my peeves with IDL right now. I'm sure version 5.0 will have all kinds of new bells and whistles, but all I really want is a version of 4.0 that runs properly under Win95. You know, long filenames, widgets that behave themselves, easy access to font lists, that kind of thing.
