Hello,

I have two questions:

- 1) How do you change the default location of the output when you select the "Save Window As" option?
- 2) How do you programmatically create the output file. I.e. how do you save the output file from the command line, or within an application?

I had a look at cgplot and cgwindow source but couldn't figure out how to get a filename to the cgwindow output options via cgplot keywords.

cheers,

paulv
