
Subject: Re: NG in Buffer.... now what???

Posted by Michael Galloy on Fri, 22 Jul 2011 15:44:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On 7/22/11 8:20 AM, Haje Korth wrote:

> Hi,
> Digging through docs for 15 minutes and cannot find answer to a simple > question. I have a new graphics object created in the buffer using > plot(...,/buffer). How do I show this buffer on the screen? I only > need this for debug purposes so I do not want to create the plot > always on screen by leaving out the buffer keyword.
>
> Thanks,
> Haje

I think the normal workflow for using the /BUFFER keyword would be to use the save or copyWindow methods to get the contents out as a file or byte array image, depending on your requirements.

Mike

--

Michael Galloy
www.michaelgalloy.com
Modern IDL, A Guide to Learning IDL: <http://modernidl.idldev.com>
Research Mathematician
Tech-X Corporation
