On Aug 12, 10:53 am, KH <kh...@advsys.net> wrote:
> Hello,
>
> I received the following error when trying to create a movie.
>
> IDLFFVIDEOWRITE::PUT: Error opening codec for stream 0.
>
> It is very odd, because I had been using my program to generate some > animations and then it stopped working.
> I did not change any of the input files or the code itself, just an > option to alter the number of frames per second. Is this an IDL (8.1) > problem, or an issue with my system (Windows XP - 32 bit - that has > been a bit flaky lately)? I even rebooted my computer with hopes that > might solve the problem and still it is not working.
>
> Thanks for your assistance,
> Kim

PS I received the command when trying to execute the following:

time = oVid.Put(vidStream, IMG)

Where IMG is the image array.

Thanks again,
Kim