On Aug 4, 4:46 pm, Maxwell Peck <maxjp...@gmail.com> wrote:
> Hi All,
>
> I'm not sure if I'm losing my mind here but I'm trying to use a black > background in an iplot and have the axes/text etc white. The actual > plot data itself is working fine with the colours i'm choosing. I > naively thought setting the color keyword to white would fix this but > it doesn't seem to work. Anyone have any idea where I'm going wrong?
>
> Cheers
> Max

For those that are interested in 7.1 and later you use isetproperty after the iplot call to change the colour for the axes* properties COLOR=.

What a nightmare, to think I was considering building some sort of interactive app with this... Checking out Catalyst now David!

Max