Subject: Re: TITLE property using object graphics
Posted by Mike Potter on Sun, 14 Aug 2011 19:47:14 GMT

On Aug 14, 3:24 pm, Mike Potter <m...@orionsound.com> wrote:
> I'm guessing I'm missing something simpe. Being an old-school IDL > programmer I've decided to explore a bit of the object graphics > functions.   I immediately ran into a problem just cutting and pasting > from the help file examples. Here's an example:
>
> theory = SIN(2.0*FINDGEN(200)*!PI/25.0)*EXP(-0.02*FINDGEN(200))
>
> p1 = plot(theory, title="Test")
>
> When doing so I get an error message: "PLOT: Graphics window does not > exist".
>
> If I just do the plot with no title it works fine. If I then try:
>
> p1.TITLE = "Test"
>
> I again get the same error message. If I "Print, P1" it gives me a > list of the properties; TITLE = <NullObject>
>
> So what's up?
>
> Thanks!
> Mike Potter

BTW - using IDL 8.1 & Windows XP