On 09/09/11 00:10, Paul van Delst wrote:
> Especially since the effect (basically crashing your entire system) is rather monumental.

IDL had that capability at least since 6.x, where too many recursive function calls would bring down the whole linux system.

chl