
Subject: Re: Explain Contour Plot to Me

Posted by David Fanning on Sun, 11 Sep 2011 17:14:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

alx writes:

- > By the way, let me say that I agree with what you said in your P.S.
- > But I do not think that the NG software is as bad as you are feeling:
- > NG offers, in principle, much more possibilities than DG and ...
- > Matlab's graphics ! However, some tuning by ITTVIS is certainly
- > urgently needed as well as, mainly, a much better documentation !

I don't dispute any of this, except that NG software is not as bad as I think it is. I haven't even started to talk about map projections and widget programming. Believe me, it worse than what I have exposed so far. :-)

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>

Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")
