I would like to display a list of filenames in an widget application.
I have so far been unable to find a satisfactory way of doing this, since I would like the user to be able to:

- 1) Select one or several of the filenames in the list
- 2) View the whole filepath, right-aligned so that the name at the end is clear

I can't seem to right-align a list widget, and a text widget won't let me select an item in the list in a straightforward way. I think I can make it work with a table widget, but that seems to have irritating and unnecessary scroll bars.

Does anyone have a solution?
