Thanks, David.

I have an RSS feed to my web page, where I announce program updates, new articles, etc. but not very many people have subscribed to it. I've been thinking about how I should go about getting the information out to more people. (Coyote Library programs are updated frequently.)

I suppose I should be tweeting this information!
I guess I'm going to have to find some 12-year-old kid to set it up for me. :-(

Cheers,

David
