
Subject: Re: Problem with variables in memory
Posted by [Jeff\[2\]](#) on Fri, 20 Apr 2012 19:58:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks for the messages.

In fact, that's a "good" problem, but I just wanted to know why does that happen. I agree with you, it really sounds like a optimization and not a memory issue.

That's weird, if I close IDL and open again and run the code with any x and y pairs that I had previously used the extraction is pretty fast.

All the best!
