

---

Subject: Re: fits array manipulation

Posted by Kyle Schindler on Mon, 09 Jul 2012 18:58:38 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On Friday, July 6, 2012 6:23:12 PM UTC-4, Kyle Schindler wrote:

> I am using a fits image to look at ngc1097. The radius of the galaxy is roughly 600 pixles. I want to cut this part out into a new array so I can work with just the galaxy. Does anybody no how to do this.

>

> I was thinking of selecting each area above to the sides and below the galaxy into a new array then subtracting this from my original array.

Thanks this helped alot

---