
Subject: Re: idlwave: Breakpoints don't work
Posted by simona bellavista on Thu, 10 Jan 2013 15:20:56 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

ok, I am using idlwave v6.1_em22

Because I am a user on a linux cluster, can u tell me if I can install locally in my home a different version idlwave and how?

On Thursday, January 10, 2013 2:54:02 PM UTC, Matt wrote:

> simona bellavista <afylot@gmail.com> writes:

>

>

>

>> I am using idlwave on emacs. I can't set breakpoints, the message is

>

>> 'Wrong type argument: consp, nil'

>

>>

>

>> I am using Emacs 23.1.1 and IDL 8.0.1

>

>

>

> This sounds like an idlwave problem I've encountered before. Are you able to > upgrade your idlwave installation? It looks like it's somewhat stale at this > point, but I'd try to use the version on github locally and see if that fixes

>

>

>

> your problem. <https://github.com/jdtsmith/idlwave>

>

>

>

> Hope this helps, sorry it doesn't sound more helpful.

>

>

>

> Matt

>

>

>

> --

>

> Matthew Savoie - Senior Software Developer

>

> National Snow and Ice Data Center

>

> (303) 735-0785 <http://nsidc.org>
