

---

Subject: Re: Putting an overbar on text in a plot

Posted by Sir Loin Steak on Thu, 17 Jan 2013 17:27:47 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On Wednesday, January 16, 2013 4:19:00 AM UTC, Chris Torrence wrote:

> Hi Liam,

>

>

>

> You need to use the TrueType fonts, not the Hershey fonts. This is the default for object graphics and new graphics. For direct graphics, you can set !P.FONT=1. The following help page explains how to set this, and gives character tables:

>

> http://www.exelisvis.com/docs/Using\_TrueType\_Fonts.html

>

>

>

> Cheers,

>

> Chris

>

> ExelisVIS

Thanks Chris and Craig. Both your methods now work, so I can pick and choose which one to use at will!

---