
Subject: Re: AstroPlotLib

Posted by David Fanning on Tue, 22 Jan 2013 19:13:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Wayne Landsman writes:

> Just want to plug the AstroPlotLib website (astroplotlib.stsci.edu) a gallery of mostly astronomy-related plots created by Leonardo Ubeda. By clicking on the plot, one can see the IDL code used to make the plot. The code uses Coyote graphics and the IDL Astronomy Library.

Oh, dear! Coyote Graphics examples circa 2005, it looks like. :-(

Cheers,

David

P.S. And we wonder why nothing ever changes. Damn Internet!

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.idlcoyote.com/>

Sepore ma de ni thue. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")
