Hi,

I have an issue on IDL for Windows, where the command history does not store any recent commands. Checking into the problem I noticed that I have a number of stale idl_engine.exe processes running. These should have been shut down automatically when the workbench these processes were attached to were closed. This is on v8.2.3, but I have had this problem with other versions as well. Are the two phenomena related? Is anyone else having these issues?

Cheers,
Haje
