
Subject: Re: Updateable Message Widget
Posted by jaymikejames on Sat, 27 Jul 2013 05:31:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi, I'm developing a website for a DJ. He's not interested in blogging but he wants a simple message window that only he can update (in the code) and then release on the website as a widget or separate floating frame. Above the message widget would be a text area form field that allows visitors to send the messages they want to leave to his email- then he scans the message and posts it into the message widget. I'm not sure if the code you all have shared will work for me? I have only built powerpoint sliders with Google code and jquery, how would I implement your message box on a website? thanks

rthirsty
