Subject: Re: most probable value of a data set Posted by Phillip Bitzer on Sat, 19 Oct 2013 22:21:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I assume by "most probable value", you mean the mode. Ultimately you'll want to use HISTOGRAM, but how exactly you would calculate the histogram, and hence the mode, really depends on the data set (e.g., what is the "correct" bin size for your data).

Some hints here:
http://www.idlcoyote.com/code_tips/mode.html