Subject: Re: Suppress print statement from nested procedures
Posted by Craig Markwardt on Fri, 15 Nov 2013 09:13:15 GMT

On Thursday, November 14, 2013 6:24:37 PM UTC-5, Sam wrote:
> Hello all,
>
>
>
> I built a wrapper for a procedure (it calls many others, in turn), but the output that was important for the original program is no long important. In fact it's quite a nuisance. I'd rather not dig down into the subroutines to add the option to turn off printing -- this would be a major effort. Is there an IDL equivalent of redirecting to /dev/null (or a text file) when calling a procedure from within another procedure? In a perfect world, it would be:
>

Sorry, but there is no simple solution. PRINTing will always print. You're going to have to do some digging.

Craig