Subject: Re: Initialize new variable array with nan or -9999 values
Posted by David Fanning on Thu, 20 Feb 2014 18:35:33 GMT

Morgan Silverman writes:

>
> Hello,
>
> This seems like it should be so simple but I can't figure out how to do it. I am creating a new array, distance=fltarr(304,336,500) and I want it to be initially filled with either nan or -9999. My results could possibly be 0.0 so I need to know where those are calculated values and not just part of the original array. Thank you.

distance=fltarr(304,336,500) + -9999

David
--
David Fanning, Ph.D.
Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.idlcoyote.com/
Sepore ma de ni thue. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")