Subject: Re: Adding libraries to online help
Posted by thompson on Thu, 24 Apr 1997 07:00:00 GMT

Andrew Cool <andrew.cool@dsto.defence.gov.au> writes:

> Hi all.

> David Foster wrote:

   ...

> Why is it that I've written a similiar GUI program, as has > Bill Thompson (XDOC), and no doubt quite a few others?

Just to set the record straight, the XDOC program was written by my colleague Dominic Zarro. I just think it's excellent, and have always recommended it to others. One of the advantages is that it works directly from the .pro files themselves, and doesn't depend on keeping other files up-to-date with the software. It also allows one to look directly at the source code.

Bill Thompson