i have only recently been introduced to the IDL language and i am writing code to send output directly to the printer instead of to a window - i am using Windows 3.11.

is there a way to plot multi-plots and images on a window and send the window to the printer or just send the plots or images to the printer directly using IDL code? i know about set_lot and setting the filename to something other 'win', for example 'ps' or 'hp' but these don't seem to work.
