I've just installed emacs on an NT workstation. I can't seem to get a process going with IDL in it. I'm using the same .emacs, idl.el, and idl-shell.el that I have on a UNIX system that runs fine (except I can't get it to indent automatically either). All are the latest versions I could find emacs 19.34.1, idl.el 1.35, idl-shell.el 2.2.

I've used emacs for awhile on unix machines, but have never delved too much into it. I've only started learning how to customize it in the .emacs file (fortunately I've used lisp before).

Thanks for any help.

Mark Cook
