
Subject: Re: Create an array of color name
Posted by David Fanning on Fri, 02 Jan 2015 03:40:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

changliao1025@gmail.com writes:

- > I am using the coyote library.
- > I need to create an array of different color names.
- > Is there any convenient way to do that?
- > The colors should be best distributed across the loaded color table. I don't know whether it is practicable to name all of these colors within the color table. If not, what is the optional way to produce a set of distinct color names?

I can't think of any reason why you would have to do this. Why do you need an array of color names?

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.
Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>
Sepore ma de ni thue. ("Perhaps thos speakest truth.")
