
Subject: Re: cgsnapshot-->dialog_pickfile:Bad initial filename
Posted by David Fanning on Thu, 12 Mar 2015 17:16:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

g.nacarts@gmail.com writes:

```
> I used the following code to extract my images as tif files
>
> directory = 'C:\Users\Images'
>
> file_mkdir, directory
>
> write_tif, directory + '\ ' + name, tvrd ()
>
> I overlaid a grid on the top of the images. When the images exported as tif files the grid was not red any more, it appears in white colour. To keep the colour of the grid I used the cgsnapshot instead
>
> directory = 'C:\Users\Images' > void = cgsnapshot(/tif, filename= directory + '\ ' +name)
>
> But I got the following system error
>
> cgsnapshot-->dialog_pickfile:Bad initial filename: C:\Users\
>
> Can anyone help with this?
```

Define the "name" variable.

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.idlcoyote.com/>

Sepore ma de ni thue. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")
